

The user request is held fixed. What changes is which component owns selection, source access, and the final words.